INTIMIDATION THREATS.

Just why any man should desire to destroy THE REPUBLICAN and damn its editor, we are frank to confess our inability to judge. The public is advised as to our conduct, our readers will bear us witness that we have been very frank in dealing with our opponents, but have always adhered strictly to the truth and the facts with which we have dealt. Shall the freedom of the press be denied? Ought we keep our heads down and let the enemy stand back and revel in the superfluity of billingsgate and false charges and unrelenting lies? Is a man not justified in self-defense in fighting for political and social equality; in standing out boldly for the principles he holds sacred; in calling a halt on the rule of the mob and the rule of politics; in exposing the records of public men, when they desert their party, play demagogues, or turn traitors to their constituency? Why should any member of the Democratic ticket desire to see us wiped from the face of the earth, is it because we have been openly, knowingly and willfully misrepresented their records? Most assuredly not this, for our argument stands uncontradicted by those whose records have been exposed, or by the mouthpiece of the party. We have brought some very grave charges against some of these men and not one has been challenged or questioned. Certainly if our conduct was so odious, abusive and deserving rebuke somebody, somewhere would lead us to a post of correction. Take not in the mouth for several days, and will haught to be a little keener what we say, for we are given fair warning that the "licking" is to be a "damn good one." It is feared that he was "bought half tanked up, and fancied himself to be a colossal monster, very similar to Mark Twain's king of the Mississippi, and Mark pictures him with everything but horns. To be more explicit of our meaning, we give Twain's description of what our enemy fancies he really is:

"Who-oop! I'm the old original iron-jawed, brass-mounted, copper-belled, corpse-maker from the wilds of Arkansas! Look at me! I'm the man they call Sudden Death and General Desolation! Sired by a hurricane, dam'd by an earthquake, half-brother to the cholera, nearly related to the smallpox on the mother's side!

Look at me! I take nineteen alligators and a bar'l of whiskey for breakfast, when I'm in robust health, and a bushel of rattlesnakes and a dead body when I'm ailing. I split the everlasting rocks with my glance, and I quench the thunder when I speak!

Who-oop! Stand back and give me room according to my strength! Blood's my natural drink, and the wails of the dying are music to my ear! Cast your eyes on me, gentlemen! and lay low and hold your breath, for I'm 'bout to turn myself loose!"

Being warned of the dangers and threatened annihilation, by a friend, he inquired if we weren't a little apprehensive of such a giant-like man exterminator. Whereupon we suggested that we could best illustrate our oneness by relating a little Sunday School story, which went thus:

Recently we learned of a lady, who was very attentive and dutiful to her Sunday School class of little boys; she was bright, brilliant and highly cultured and would frequently lecture her class. One day after the routine of class work had been completed, she entered into a vivid description of the devil, to the tender young superstitious minds, picturing him with horns, hoofs and a long tail, a perfect man-eater, and on concluding her lecture, she quizzed some of the boys to see whether or not it had been effective. Turning to Tommy, she asked, "Tommy, are you afraid of the devil?"

"Yes, indeed, I'm 'fraid of de devil!"

"Bill, are you afraid of the devil?"

"Lawdy, Miss Mary, I'm awfully

'fraid of the devil!"

"How about you, Johnnie, are you afraid of the devil, too?"

"Well, don't know much, 'recon might be 'fraid of that sort of devil but if you'll just trot out any little old devil my size, I'll give him hell."

LET JUSTICE REIGN.

Within the past ten days, Mr. Jus-tus Goebel has been indicted in two cases for obtaining money from city officials of Covington because he was instrumental in obtaining the positions which they held. One salary was $150 per month and $50 of that amount was appropriated to the private use of Justus Goebel for his services in securing the office. Before the ink had hardly dried on the indictment, his brother, Arthur Goebel, had published a signed card, asking the public to withhold judgment against his brother until he could be heard in the case. There was nothing wrong in this, nothing unfair; it was a reasonable request, but, how vastly different to the case of those charged, in an indictment, of being accessories to the murder of a public official; how different is the action of Arthur Goebel in this matter, to the case of Caleb Powers, when he even aided in purchasing evidence to hang an innocent man, and taking the stand himself.

Indeed, a vast chasm exists between the demands of Arthur Goebel and the actions of the Democratic nominees for county offices, in this county, in prejudging Gov. Taylor, in during a painting in the Beckham procession last fall, purporting to represent Gov. Taylor shooting Sncator Goebel. Taylor has never been tried yet he has been convicted by every man, now asking the people for official honor, on the Democratic ticket.

These candidates know that W. S.

Taylor was your idol whom they have so shamefully mistreated. They know that no man on earth is quite so dear to this people as the man whom they elected Governor, whom these candidates helped to unseat and drive from the State. Gov. Taylor is much loved by the citizens of this county, because they know him, because he was reared in the shadow of their own homes, and they love him the more because he has been so cruelly and in-humanely ousted and driven from a fortune of $26,000 which they assisted in giving him.

Twelve months ago the Herald scribe was heartily endorsing Mr.

Watterson's frank statement: "Under the operation of the Goebel law, the result of the election is not left to chance." The scribe now repudiates Watterson and will finally go after

Mr. Goebel for his revolutionary assertions at McHenry. Oh, but Goebel never said: "The Republicans may do the voting, but we Democrats will do the counting." He didn't, eh?

Well, Dr. J. S. Smith and H. B. Innes and Messrs. E. L. Myers, J. W. Fielden and Peter Lauder, swore that he did use the expression and we would certainly believe these gentlemen upon any question, political or otherwise. They are all excellent men, but then, you say, a counter affidavit was filed, by whom?

Oh, well, politicians, of course.

The Institute.

The Institute is fast approaching, only one more week intervenes for the preparation for the duties which each teacher is expected to meet. The Institute ought to be a success, for nothing is more indicative of good work in the school room than good work in an Institute. Our Institute ought to improve in its advancement each year, our teachers ought to improve their work over the past year, and no better opportunity to display this advancement will be afforded than in the Institute hall. The Superintendent and Instructor are doing everything in their power to make an interesting and profitable Institute. A lecture will be delivered Tuesday night by Rev. H. Boice Taylor, a brilliant and scholarly young divine, while Thursday night Hon. Alf Taylor will explore the beautiful realms of "Poetry and Pearls." A large attendance is expected to attend this lecture course during the Institute, for it promises to be the most interesting event of the summer for our people. Remember week after next is the Institute, get ready and make yourself conspicuous that week with your presence and thus encourage the young educators, the Superintendent and Instructor.

Powell's gasoline boat has been tied up near the Hartford Water Mill for debt by Evansville parties, an attachment was served Wednesday by Deputy U. S. Marshal G. M. York. It is in charge of Mr. J. M. Mattingly.

Withdrawal.

Baizetown, Ky., July 9 1901.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN:

Owing to the condition of my health and realizing that if nominated, I would be compelled to canvass the district, which I would be unable to do, I have concluded it best for me to withdraw from the field as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Magistrate in the Cromwell Magisterial District. Thanking my many friends for the interest they have manifested in my behalf, I remain,

Very truly,

Dave Smith Killed.

"Wild Cat" Dave Smith is no more. He was shot and instantly killed at 11 o'clock to-day by Charles Brown, two miles from Whitesville.

Smith was in Whitesville this morning to purchase some goods and about 10:30 left for his home, about three miles south of the town. When about two-thirds of the way home, he met Charles Brown, a neighbor, with a shotgun. What passed between the two men is not known, but Brown fired one shot, which entered Smith's body, killing him instantly. Brown was on foot at the time of the shooting, but he went back home at once and got his horse and started to Owensboro to give himself up.

The men had been enemies for a long time, and it came to a culmination over the ownership of a goat. Smith had made a number of threats against Brown, and when he passed Brown's place he undertook to drive off the goat, which was claimed by Brown. The killing occurred almost in front of Brown's house, and the little that is known of it is what he told his family before he left. Smith was not armed at the time of the shooting.

News of the killing reach Whitesville in twenty minutes after it occurred, and the marshal thought of holding an inquest until advised that he could not do it. The body at 2 o'clock this afternoon was lying in the road where it had fallen, and it will likely remain there until the arrival of Coroner Hayden, who went up this afternoon to hold the inquest.

Brown's family told the men who went out from Whitesville that he had started to Owensboro to surrender but they do not believe it. From some preparation he had made they thought it more probable that he had gone out of the State.

Brown is known as a quiet citizen, and has never been in trouble before. He has a wife and several children.

Smith was 55 years old, and has always been known as one of the toughest men in the country. Many years ago he was tried in the Daviess circuit court on a charge of stealing wool and sent to the penitentiary for a term of years. He was the hero of a thousand fights, more or less, and had the scars of many a battle on his body. Wednesday's Inquirer.

"Poetry and Pearls"

—AT—

HARTFORD,

Thursday Evening July 25,

AT 8 O'CLOCK.

During the past two seasons Mr. Taylor's lecture, entitled "Poetry and Pearls," has met with such universal success as to place him among the foremost platform entertainers of America. With the magnetism an power of a great actor, he sweeps from picture to picture, displaying an individuality of manner and a beauty of expression which thrills and enraptures those who hear him.

"Poetry and Pearls" is more than a mere speech. It is a beautiful prose poem, sparkling with metaphor and allegory and simile, and effervescent with wit and humor.

Tickets are on sale at R. T. Collins' dry goods store. They are going fast and you should come or send at once and select your seat.

Reserved Seats, 50c.

Our Sunday School Convention.

Prof. H. K. Taylor, of Louisville, will be at McHenry on Sunday, July 21st, 1901, and will conduct the Annual County Sunday School Convention. Prof. Taylor is one of the best Sunday School workers of the State and no doubt will give us the best convention the county has ever had. Every Sunday School of the county is entitled to delegates to this convention and will miss a great treat should it fail to take advantage of this opportunity. The morning session will begin at 10:30 o'clock, the evening session at 2 o'clock.

We hope every school will send as many as two delegates and more if convenient. Free entertainment will be provided for delegates. Attend to this matter and send names of delegates immediately to J. Ham Barnes, Beaver Dam, so that homes may be provided.

Please make out the following report and send to R. W. Patterson, at Prentice, Ky., or bring it with you to the convention.

OF HEART FAILURE

Wife of Ex-Governor W. S. Taylor Died at Indianapolis Tuesday Morning.

Indianapolis, July 9.—Mrs. Sarah Taylor, wife of ex-Governor Taylor, of Kentucky, died at 2:20 o'clock this morning of hemorrhage, resulting from heart failure. She had been ill for several weeks, but her death was not expected. She was 47 years of age.

NEWS RECEIVED HERE.

It has been decided by the Kentucky colony here that Mrs. Taylor will be buried at beautiful Crown Hill Cemetery in this city in order to avoid any molestation of Mr. Taylor by the Kentucky authorities in case the funeral was held in Kentucky.

Mrs. Taylor, the wife of ex-Gov. Wm. S. Taylor, died suddenly at Indianapolis shortly after 2 o'clock this morning of heart trouble. The first news of her death was received here by postmaster Baker, who received a telegram from Gov. Taylor's daughter, informing him of her mother's sudden death. Postmaster Baker's wife left on the first train for Indianapolis, to render all the assistance she possibly could to the children and ex-Governor.

Mrs. Taylor had not been in good health for some time. During the trouble some times at Frankfort, when Gov. Taylor held his seat at the point of the bayonet, Mrs. Taylor was in poor health and the excitement attendant upon the position occupied by her husband came very near causing her death upon more than one occasion. Several times Gov. Taylor was upon the point of quitting the desperate struggle, fearing that unless he did so, the life of his wife, to whom he was devoted, would be the forfeit. But she bravely kept up under the terrible strain and spurred her husband on to the retention of the place to which the people had elected him. Finally, broken in spirit and in purse having sacrificed every cent he had in the world in his effort to uphold the will of the people, the end came and he was forced to give up the position to which he had been chosen. Kind friends then provided a home for Mrs. Taylor, the brave and loving wife, at Crescent Hill.

There the stricken family went until hounded and pursued by infamous and unfeeling wretches. The Governor and his family were driven from the State. Refuge was taken in Indiana, where, through the generous heartedness of its Governor, a protecting arm was thrown around Kentucky's ex-Governor, his wife and children.

But the excitement of the past two years have proven too great for the frail wife of the ex-Governor and the end to all her troubles came this morning as announced above. The sympathy of all true Kentuckians irrespective of politics will go out to Governor Taylor in this, his terrible hour of affliction, when he is left a fugitive so to speak from his own State with several children to care for. It is truly a pitiable case and one which would touch a heart of stone.

Ohio County Boys.

Ohio county has just the Louisville Medical College this year with five graduates, Drs. Z. H. Shultz, D. H. Godey, J. Henry Barnes, A. D. Park and J. L. Smith, from the Dental College, two, Drs. O. B. Heavin and E. A. Carson. Here are seven excellent young men ready for the onerous duties of a life of investigation, and it can truly be said of these young men that they will have comparison with any other county's output from these institutions, or any other, as for that matter. Young men, you are the representatives of a county strongly in sympathy with man's intellectual development, and as her representatives, she is justly proud of you. Go forth to your duties remembering that you can go to the top round, if you will to do it and the best wishes of THE REPUBLICAN will follow you.

Mass Convention.

Persuant to call of the committee, the Republicans of Centertown Magisterial district met in mass convention at Centertown, July 6, 1901, for the purpose of nominating candidates for Magistrate and Constable, respectively.

The assembly was called to order by Dr. G. F. Chapman, who was made chairman of the convention, and C. E. Smith was chosen secretary. The chairman then declared nominations in order and Mr. W. I. Rowe, in a few well chosen words, closing with a beautiful tribute to President McKinley, presented the name of Mr. W. P. Render, Sr., who was nominated candidate for Magistrate by the unanimous vote of the convention.

The names of Messrs. Wm. Chancellor and Taylor Stevens were then presented for Constable. Mr. Chancellor received the nomination by a
